

BOTCHED | NEW SEASON COMING SOON

When someone has cosmetic surgery, it doesn't always turn out as planned. So what happens when a procedure is botched? If they're on this reality programme, they head to renowned plastic surgeons Paul Nassif and Terry Dubrow, who try to reverse damages from the original procedure. Each hour-long episode follows a patient through the process of correcting failed operations, from the complex procedures to the intensive recovery process and - ultimately - the reveal of the successful transformation
